Wayne Twp. School Joins Court Scrap

Wayne Twp. Local School District today joined New Holland in its battle against consolidation.

A petition filed today in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court is identical in nature to one filed by New Holland a week ago. The same attorney, Joseph P. Asher, Columbus, represents both plaintiffs.

The requested restraining order, temporary injunction and permanent injunction ask that no interference be permitted in the board's business and with the board's assets.

The Wayne Twp. local school district and William Barthelmas, Route 2, a taxpayer, are the plaintiffs. Defendants named in the petition are the Pickaway County Board of Education; George McDowell, clerk of the county board, and the newly-formed Westfall Board, and Brice Connell, clerk of the Westfall Board.

The Wayne Twp. board is composed of George L. Roth, president, Lloyd G. Davis, Richard Tootle, Jeff Kiser, and Forrest Moore.

PETITIONS ARE identical in form except that Wayne desires to join the Circleville City School District, while New Holland wants to join the Miami Trace District of Fayette County.

Two sections of the Revised Code of Ohio are involved. They pertain to the section providing for

Whitehall Transfer Slated for Study

COLUMBUS (U)—The request to transfer 2,754 acres from the suburban Whitehall School District to the Columbus School District will be discussed tonight at a special session of Ohio's state board of education.

Final action had been postponed from a board meeting Dec. 9 pending a decision by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe on the tax lien date on property in the area.

Saxbe reported to the board it would be "a conservative course" to approve the transfer before Jan. 1 so that taxes in the area could be collected in the Columbus district and prevent the likelihood of an adjustment in tax rates. An adjustment would cause a loss of more than $1 million to Franklin County, Columbus and Whitehall school districts.

Circleville Girl Warned Of Rabid Pup

A Circleville girl is among the 100 Florida Southern College coeds who has been telephoned warning that a pet sorority house dog was found to be rabid.

Barbara Culp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Culp, 475 N. Court St., is a member of the Alpha Omicron Pi sorority which kept the pet against school regulations.

Barbara reported that she will not take anti-rabies shots since she only petted the dog and was not bitten. She also reported the sorority not only had the pup, but had another dog, a hamster and a parakeet.

To date school officials have notified by telephone 100 vacationing students who may have come in contact with the pup.

The entire student body of about 2,000 was informed by letter that the dog died of rabies, which is fatal to humans who do not take anti-rabies treatment.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS said they had a report the pup might have been slipped into a physical education class.

The college already had telephoned 83 girls in two sororities and then reached the 17 members of the physical education class by telephone Sunday.

The pup was taken into a sorority house in violation of college rules and kept as a mascot for several weeks. He was taken home for the Christmas holidays by a girl student and died last Monday.

West Germans Deny Claims by British

BONN, Germany (U)—The West German Defense Ministry today denied British news paper speculation that U. S. pressure caused the Bonn government to decide against buying Britain's latest Rocket jet plane.

A ministry spokesman said the plane had been turned down because its manufacturers were unable to get the ship to the German air force before 1961. "And that's too late," he added.

Reports circulated in Bonn that the chief contenders for the German order now are two American planes, the F104 Lockheed Starfighter and the Grumman F11F1 Tiger, and the French Deseault Mirage 3.

Aid to Ceylon Rushed

COLOMBO, Ceylon (U)—The United States and Britain rushed aid by sea and air today to the flood victims of this tropical island. The subsiding waters have left 250 dead.

make its ruling within 90 days after rejection by the county board.

On the same date that the county board rejected these petitions, they consolidated the Westfall School District which included the two protesting districts, and six others.

The question of law that will appear before the court on January 10, in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court apparently is:

Can a county board of education consolidate a local school district (Wayne and New Holland) with other local school districts (the other six involved in the Westfall school district), when the local school district (Wayne and New Holland) has pending and undecided a petition for annexation before the state board of education?

By request of Judge William Ammer to the Chief Justice of Ohio, Judge Darrell Hottel of Highland County (Hillsboro) will preside over the hearing.

COUNTY PROSECUTOR Ray Davis today said he will not act for either side because the code states, "When civil action is between two or more local school districts in the same county, the prosecutor shall not be required to act for either of them." Davis' decision will require all parties concerned to obtain their own legal counsel.

Both petitions will be heard on January 10, since they are identical in form and raise the same question of law.

Wanted Thug Dies in Crash During High Speed Cop Chase

WRENS, Ga. (U)—One of two gunmen wanted in the slaying of two men in Washington, D. C., was killed Sunday night in the flaming crash of a stolen car being chased by police at speeds of up to 110 m.p.h.

The state patrol said Henry Clay Overton, 44, of Martinsville, Va., died when the car he was driving swerved and smashed head on into another auto. The crash occurred on U. S. 1 about four miles north of this east central Georgia town.

The driver of the other car, listed as Charlie Wray of Cocoa, Fla., and High Point, N. C., also was killed.

The patrol said a massive hunt was in progress for Overton's companion, Russell Wayne Carpenter, 21, of Washington.

Officers found a sawed-off shotgun and "enough ammunition to stand off a company of men for a week" scattered about the 1958 car Overton was driving.

Death of the gunman climaxed a spree of violence which began early Friday with the fatal shooting of two men in a Washington bar.

Overton's death came after Knight and his partner, Cpl. F. R. Calton, spotted the stolen car in Wrens, and gave chase at speeds up to 110 m.p.h.

Air Force Plans IRBM Strategy

WASHINGTON (U)—The Air Force's constantly revised strategic plans now include arrangements on how intermediate range ballistic missiles would be used in event of war.

The operational plans for both long-range, air-breathing guided missiles and intermediate range ballistic missiles are understood to have been completed and incorporated in the over-all war-time plans of the USAF about six months ago.

This was done even though the IRBM weapons may not become a part of the available arsenal for another year.

The Air Force maintains three basic strategic blueprints which cover periods ranging from the next 60 days to as much as 13 years. They are the short-range "wartime capabilities plan"; the "mid-range wartime" plan containing D-day data up to four years in the future; and the "long-range wartime objective plan."

The air-breathing Snark guided missile, with a range of 5,000 miles, is now considered operational by the Air Force and launching sites are being organized.

THE AIR FORCE expects the first deliveries of the Thor IRBM, with a maximum accurate range of 1,500 miles, to be made late in 1958. But as part of the forward planning, details for the operational use and command structure of IRBM squadrons have been put into the war plans folio.

Presumably these details include not only the proposed bases from which IRBMs would be launched depending on the outcome of negotiations with the NATO nations but a "target list" like those prepared for operation of conventional, manned bombers.

The details, of course, are highly secret but an IRBM list might include potential targets as deep in central Russia as the munitions complexes in the area

Gen. Zwicker Due For Post in Ohio

SEOUL (U)—Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, one of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy's targets, is leaving Korea soon for a new assignment in the United States.

Zwicker, commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, is due to take command in March of the 20th U. S. Army Corps which administers reserve activities in several states from headquarters at Ft. Hayes, Columbus, Ohio.

McCarthy attacked Zwicker in 1954 in connection with the promotion and discharge of an Army dentist at Camp Kilmer, N. J., whom the senator claimed had a record of Communist activity.

Another Strike In Gotham Set

NEW YORK (U)—The Transport Workers Union went ahead with plans today for a vast strike at midnight Tuesday that would paralyze New York City's entire bus and subway systems.

At an overflow meeting Sunday, nearly 5,000 shouting members of the union roared unanimous approval of the walkout and barred any delay unless an acceptable wage agreement is reached before the deadline.

A strike by the TWU would virtually turn the city's 288 miles of subway tubes into ghost tunnels as well as stopping operation of all city-operated bus lines, eight private bus line in suburban Westchester County.

The strike vote Sunday followed failure of negotiations between the autonomous Transit Authority and the TWU in an effort to replace their contract which expires at midnight Tuesday.

THE UNION'S demands for a 65-cent hourly increase in a one-year pact and the TA's offer of 18 cents an hour over two years left the two sides far apart.

Present subway wages range from $1.79 an hour for porters to $2.37 for power maintainers. Negotiations resumed this afternoon, with settlement of the subway contract dispute serving as the key issue. The outcome of the subway pay talks will probably determine the wage pattern for 8,200 TWU members employed on the private bus lines, which are also negotiating with TWU.

Russian Says More Satellites Planned

MOSCOW (U)—Lt. Gen. Anatoly Blagonravov, the rocket expert of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, says Russia will launch new earth satellites in the near future.

Blagonravov, in an article in Soviet Aviation, said the launchings would be followed by sending the first unmanned rockets to the moon and other planets. He set no time targets.

of the Utah Mountains, if launching points from Turkey were used.

From bases in the United Kingdom and Free Europe, Moscow would be within IRBM range.

Because the Air Force believes that it may be many years, if at all, before the missile entirely displaces the manned bomber, strategy now is constructed around the coordinated use of both types of weapons.

Some Air Force planners have suggested that instead of a single massive, simultaneous blow against all targets on the list, a series of powerful attacks would be spread out over the first several hours of a war.

Radcliff Gets Service Post, Fissell Stays

Mayor-elect Ben H. Gordon today announced that he will name Carl (Cottie) Radcliff service director of Circleville. Miller Fissell will stay on safety director and John Jimrod will be new health officer.

Radcliff, 228 E. Franklin St., a former deputy sheriff, will replace Dewey Speakman as service director. Jimrod replaces C. O. Leist in the Health Department.

Fissell who has been safety director will continue in his job of directing the Police and Fire Departments.

Gordon said the men will take over as soon as permitted by law. Gordon will be sworn in as mayor today, but will not take over his duties officially until Wednesday.

10,000 U. S. Scholarships Contemplated

50-50 Matching Plan To Be Offered States Under New Proposal

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (U)—A $1 billion four-year program to bolster education was approved today by President Eisenhower. It contemplates 10,000 federal scholarships each year and 50-50 matching grants to states.

The plan was released after Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom conferred for an hour with the President.

Folsom said he had talked about the program to congressmen and felt it would receive a favorable reception when it goes to Congress for approval.

Folsom said the federal program would try to correct deficiencies in education "which if allowed to continue would seriously weaken our national security effort," and is an answer to Russia's continuing buildup in the science field.

But, Folsom made it clear that science and mathematics would not be stressed alone. He said the scholarship program aims to bring thousands more students into colleges.

THE PROGRAM calls for: Appropriation of $225 million in the first year with a four-year total of $1 billion.

Of this sum, about $800 million is estimated as part of the 50-50 matching grants-in-aid program for the states.

Officials have reported the administration's program would include federal scholarships to help worthy high school students continue their education. While the emphasis would be given to science and mathematics, it would not be confined to these fields.

This belief was strengthened Sunday in a letter the President sent to Kevin McCann, president of Defiance (Ohio) College, where a western Ohio conference on science and mathematics teaching opened today. McCann is a former presidential aide.

Eisenhower wrote that in the circumstances of this time "we naturally emphasize the need for expansion and improvement in our science and mathematics program." But, he added, "in no way do we ignore the constant need and the permanent values of general education that enriches our working lives and that enables us to be better citizens of the republic and the world."

OSU Prof Urges Americans To 'Think, Speak Science'

DEFIANCE, Ohio (U)—To keep abreast of the Russians, the American people must come to "know, think and speak science," Dr. John S. Richardson of Ohio State University said today.

Dr. Richardson, professor of science education at OSU and past president of the National Science Teachers Assn., addressed a group of educators, businessmen and leaders of labor and industry meeting here in an effort to solve the shortage of high school mathematics and science teachers.

With an attendance of only 150 anticipated, registration reached 200 this morning.

Dr. Richardson said Americans have "only begun to become aware of the critical place of science in our lives . . . American citizens must become scientifically literate. A widespread knowledge of science among our people is the biggest challenge to the teaching profession."

Dr. G. Bailey Price, chairman of the one-day conference, said the nation can solve the problems of providing an adequate number of scientists and mathematicians "only by providing an adequate number of properly trained teachers."

"If we have enough good teachers, they will succeed even with the present courses. However we have a second job to do in modernizing our methods of teaching," said Dr. Price, president of the Mathematical Assn. of America and head of the mathematics department at the University of Kansas.

At a planning session Sunday night, Dr. Price commended newspapers, radio stations and television stations for their use of features on science and mathematics.

Another speaker, Walker L. Cisler, president of Detroit Edison Co. and the Power Reactor Development Co., called on businessmen to help stem a movement of teachers from the classrooms to the higher salaries of industry.

"Industry should provide opportunities for summer work or other collateral employment which would give experience, supplement salaries and add to the attractiveness of teaching as a career," he said. "Through this first-hand experience and contacts, the teacher would also gain additional qualification as a counselor."

Record Peacetime Budget Expected

WASHINGTON (U)—The Eisenhower administration's first post-Sputnik budget may total nearly $74 billion, a peacetime record.

And Congress, alarmed by recent signs of Russian strides in science, is expected to give a friendly reception to at least the military part of the budget request for the next fiscal year.

Defense items probably will account for about $40 billion of the new budget total, an increase of more than $1 billion over the current spending rate.

Whatever budget cutting Congress may undertake may be aimed at requests for civilian programs. Present indications are that these requests may be held at previous levels, but not reduced appreciably.

President Eisenhower will send Congress his fiscal 1959 budget early next month. Congress reconvenes a week from Tuesday.

Anti-Western Blasts Readied

Afro-Asian Parley Writes Resolutions

CAIRO (U)—Delegates to the African-Asian conference put finishing touches today on a fistful of propaganda resolutions following the broad Soviet line.

Subjects ranged from nationalization to nuclear weapons.

This afternoon's plenary session promised another round of Anti-Western speeches by spokesmen for the 400 delegates from 42 nations and colonies. None represents his government officially, and many come from leftist groups either frowned on or outlawed at home.

The question of nationalization first arose during the conference delegate. The economic committee quickly picked up the theme and was reported ready to adopt a resolution approving governmental appropriation of private property.

An informed source said the resolution, which would have to be approved by the full conference at its closing business session Wednesday, considers nationalization a "lawful means and a right which is acknowledged for every nation in accordance with the principles of sovereignty."

SOME DELEGATES also were discussing the possibility of a resolution thanking Russia for her offer of economic aid or loans to all African and Asian countries. This was one of the major developments at the conference and the one considered by many observers to present the biggest challenge to the West if the Soviet government follows it through.

In the disarmament committee Chairman Kaoru Yasui of Japan said that his group's resolutions would call for withdrawal of all foreign troops, general disarmament and probably a ban on nuclear tests and on export of nuclear weapons.

Yasui said Russian nuclear tests would be mentioned as well as those by Britain and the U. S.

Tot Is Found After 2 Days In Mountains

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (U)—A 3-year-old toddler who wandered for two days and two nights through rugged, mountainous terrain, lay in a clean, white hospital bed today.

Blonde Shirley Ann Ramsburg, tired and hungry, scratched and dirty, lay beside a tree Sunday when a volunteer searcher stumbled upon her. She cried as soon as she saw him.

Dr. Donald K. McIntyre said the little girl was only suffering from exposure, and her condition was satisfactory.

Her scratches were minor. She had lost her coat, shoes and socks, and was clad only in a thin dress. Her toes were blue from the cold.

Temperatures fell to 22 degrees in the mountains Friday night and were below freezing Saturday.

The air-breathing Snark guided missile, with a range of 5,000 miles, is now considered operational by the Air Force and launching sites are being organized.

THE AIR FORCE expects the first deliveries of the Thor IRBM, with a maximum accurate range of 1,500 miles, to be made late in 1958. But as part of the forward planning, details for the operational use and command structure of IRBM squadrons have been put into the war plans file.

Presumably these details include not only the proposed bases from which IRBMs would be launched depending on the outcome of negotiations with the NATO nations but a "target list" like those prepared for operation of conventional, manned bombers.

The details, of course, are highly secret but an IRBM list might include potential targets as deep in central Russia as the munitions complexes in the area of the Urah Mountains, if launching points from Turkey were used.

From bases in the United Kingdom and Free Europe, Moscow would be within IRBM range.

Because the Air Force believes that it may be many years, if at all, before the missile entirely displaces the manned bomber, strategy now is constructed around the coordinated use of both types of weapons.

Some Air Force planners have suggested that instead of a single massive, simultaneous blow against all targets on the list, a series of powerful attacks would be spread out over the first several hours of a war.

Radcliff Gets Service Post, Fissell Stays

Fissell who has been safety director will continue in his job of directing the Police and Fire Departments.

Gordon said the men will take over as soon as permitted by law. Gordon will be sworn in as mayor today, but will not take over his duties officially until Wednesday.

Another Strike In Gotham Set

Subway, Bus Workers OK Tuesday Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — The Transport Workers Union went ahead with plans today for a vast strike at midnight Tuesday that would paralyze New York City's entire bus and subway systems.

At an overflow meeting Sunday, nearly 5,000 shouting members of the union roared unanimous approval of the walkout and barred any delay unless an acceptable wage agreement is reached before the deadline.

A strike by the TWU would virtually turn the city's 288 miles of subway tubes into ghost tunnels as well as stopping operation of all city-operated bus lines, eight private bus line in suburban Westchester County.

The strike vote Sunday followed failure of negotiations between the autonomous Transit Authority and the TWU in an effort to replace their contract which expires at midnight Tuesday.

THE UNION'S demands for a 65-cent hourly increase in a one-year pact and the TA's offer of 18 cents an hour over two years left the two sides far apart.

Present subway wages range from $1.79 an hour for porters to $2.37 for power maintainers.

Negotiations resumed this afternoon, with settlement of the subway contract dispute serving as the key issue. The outcome of the subway pay talks will probably determine the wage pattern for 8-200 TWU members employed on the private bus lines, which are also negotiating with TWU.

Ike OKs $1 Billion Federal Aid-to-Education Program

10,000 U. S. Scholarships Contemplated

50-50 Matching Plan To Be Offered States Under New Proposal

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — A $1 billion four-year program to bolster education was approved today by President Eisenhower. It contemplates 10,000 federal scholarships each year and 50-50 matching grants to states.

The plan was released after Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom conferred for an hour with the President.

Folsom said he had talked about the program to congressmen and felt it would receive a favorable reception when it goes to Congress for approval.

Folsom said the federal program would try to correct deficiencies in education "which if allowed to continue would seriously weaken our national security effort," and is an answer to Russia's continuing buildup in the science field.

But, Folsom made it clear that science and mathematics would not be stressed alone. He said the scholarship program aims to bring thousands more students into colleges.

THE PROGRAM calls for: Appropriation of $225 million in the first year with a four-year total of $1 billion.

Of this sum, about $800 million is estimated as part of the 50-50 matching grants-in-aid program for the states.

Officials have reported the administration's program would include federal scholarships to help worthy high school students continue their education. While the emphasis would be given to science and mathematics, it would not be confined to these fields.

This belief was strengthened Sunday in a letter the President sent to Kevin McCann, president of Deafness (Ohio) College, where a western Ohio conference on science and mathematics teaching opened today. McCann is a former presidential aide.

Eisenhower wrote that in the circumstances of this time "we naturally emphasize the need for expansion and improvement in our science and mathematics program." But, he added, "in no way do we ignore the constant need and the permanent values of general education that enriches our working lives and that enables us to be better citizens of the republic and the world."

Businessman Robbed

OSU Prof Urges Americans To 'Think, Speak Science'

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — To keep abreast of the Russians, the American people must come to "know, think and speak science," Dr. John S. Richardson of Ohio State University said today.

Dr. Richardson, professor of science education at OSU and past president of the National Science Teachers Assn., addressed a group of educators, businessmen and leaders of labor and industry meeting here in an effort to solve the shortage of high school mathematics and science teachers.

With an attendance of only 150 anticipated, registration reached 200 this morning.

Dr. Richardson said Americans have "only begun to become aware of the critical place of science in our lives . . . American citizens must become scientifically literate. A widespread knowledge of science among our people is the biggest challenge to the teaching profession."

Dr. G. Bailey Price, chairman of the one-day conference, said the nation can solve the problems of providing an adequate number of scientists and mathematicians "only by providing an adequate number of properly trained teachers."

Record Peacetime Budget Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration's first post-Sputnik budget may total nearly $74 billion, a peacetime record.

And Congress, alarmed by recent signs of Russian strides in missiles, satellites and space science, is expected to give a friendly reception to at least the military part of the budget request for the next fiscal year.

Defense items probably will account for about $40 billion of the new budget total, an increase of more than $1 billion over the current spending rate.

Whatever budget cutting Congress may undertake may be aimed at requests for civilian programs. Present indications are that these requests may be held at previous levels, but not reduced appreciably.

President Eisenhower will send Congress his fiscal 1959 budget early next month. Congress reconvenes a week from Tuesday.

Anti-Western Blasts Readied

Afro-Asian Parley Writes Resolutions

CAIRO (AP) — Delegates to the African-Asian conference put finishing touches today on a list of propaganda resolutions following the broad Soviet line.

Subjects ranged from nationalization to nuclear weapons.

This afternoon's plenary session promised another round of Anti-Western speeches by spokesmen for the 400 delegates from 42 nations and colonies. None represents his government officially, and many come from leftist groups either frowned on or outlawed at home.

The question of nationalization first arose during the conference delegate. The economic committee quickly picked up the theme and was reported ready to adopt a resolution approving governmental appropriation of private property.

An informed source said the resolution, which would have to be approved by the full conference at its closing business session Wednesday, considers nationalization a "lawful means and a right which is acknowledged for every nation in accordance with the principles of sovereignty."

SOME DELEGATES also were discussing the possibility of a resolution thanking Russia for her offer of economic aid or loans to all African and Asian countries. This was one of the major developments at the conference and the one considered by many observers to present the biggest challenge to the West if the Soviet government follows it through.

In the disarmament committee Chairman Kaoru Yasui of Japan said that his group's resolutions would call for withdrawal of all foreign troops, general disarmament and probably a ban on nuclear tests and on export of nuclear weapons.

Yasui said Russian nuclear tests would be mentioned as well as those by Britain and the U. S.

AN OFFICIAL who has been in on final budget preparations said Sunday that over-all government spending next year "apparently will be somewhere between 73 and 74 billion dollars, but closer to the high figure."

The current year's total has been running at the rate of about $72 billion, but Secretary of Defense McElroy said recently he will ask for about $1 billion more to push ahead more quickly in fiscal 1958 with missiles and other top priority military work.

The official who discussed spending plans said the administration hopes its fiscal 1959 budget will be in balance and he indicated an effort will be made to compensate somewhat for stepped-up missiles outlays by reducing some other military programs.

Although Eisenhower has said some civilian programs may have to be eliminated to help offset greater defense spending, this official indicated the emphasis may be on holding the line.

On the civilian side of the budget, he said, "The main idea will be to prevent any increase."

A possibly significant reaction to reports of a $40 billion request for defense came from Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, a key group in Congressional action on the budget.

Hayden described the $40 billion total as "a modest amount for defense." The Arizona senator said at the same time he is not pleased at talk of reducing outlays for what he termed "wealth producing activities." Among these, he listed reclamation and flood-control projects.

Other Congress members also have cautioned against jettisoning civilian programs in the rush to strengthen U. S. defenses. But some have voiced skepticism at the need for as much as $40 billion for defense next year, and have urged reductions in foreign aid.

Tot Is Found After 2 Days In Mountains

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A 3-year-old toddler who wandered for two days and two nights through rugged, mountainous terrain, lay in a clean, white hospital bed today.

Blonde Shirley Ann Ramsburg, tired and hungry, scratched and dirty, lay beside a tree Sunday when a volunteer searcher stumbled upon her. She cried as soon as she saw him.

Dr. Donald K. McIntyre said the little girl was only suffering from exposure, and her condition was satisfactory.

Her scratches were minor. She had lost her coat, shoes and socks, and was clad only in a thin dress. Her toes were blue from the cold. Temperatures fell to 22 degrees in the mountains Friday night and were below freezing Saturday.

A tiny footprints in the mud along the Shenandoah River had led to fears she had drowned after wandering away from home Friday afternoon. Later, one small shoe was found. The modest house sits in the Blue Ridge Mountains between West Virginia's panhandle and Virginia.

At 5 p. m. Sunday, volunteer Bill Rogers of Martinsburg came upon the grimy-faced child. It ended a ground and air search by police, firemen, National Guardsmen and volunteers.

Whitehall Transfer Slated for Study

COLUMBUS (AP) — The request to transfer 2,754 acres from the suburban Whitehall School District to the Columbus School District will be discussed tonight at a special session of Ohio's state board of education.

Final action had been postponed from a board meeting Dec. 9 pending a decision by Atty. Gen. William Saxbe on the tax lien date on property in the area.

Saxbe reported to the board it would be "a conservative course" to approve the transfer before Jan. 1 so that taxes in the area could be collected in the Columbus district and prevent the likelihood of an adjustment in tax rates. An adjustment would cause a loss of more than $1 million to Franklin County, Columbus and Whitehall school districts.

Father, Child Hurt As Fire Fells Wall

BOLIVAR, Mo. (AP) — An explosion of accumulated gases tumbled a section of brick wall onto spectators watching a fire which destroyed two buildings and damaged two others here Sunday.

Clyde Edward Fish, 34, and his 11-year-old daughter, Linda, were injured critically. Three others were hurt. Both Fish and his daughter had skull fractures and the girl's legs were broken.

Unioto Wins Kingston Meet

Host Team Clips Clarksburg Unit

Unioto Saturday defeated defending tournament champs, Centralia, in the Kingston Holiday Tournament finals, 45-38, to claim the winners trophy awarded by Wayne Delong, president of the Kingston Board of Education. The consolation game was won by Kingston over Clarksburg, 52-49, for the Redskins' first victory in seven games.

The opening game took a run-away aspect as Kingston jumped to a 29-18 halftime lead, but Clarksburg tied up the ball game by the end of the third quarter 39 to 39 and made Kingston work for its fourth victory.

Centralia trailed Unioto 13 to 3 at the end of the first quarter and was never able to make up this deficit. It was Centralia's third loss of the year, two of them by Unioto.

Kingston led 18 to 12 at the end of the first period and 29 to 18 at halftime as the Redskins displayed a well-balanced attack with four men in the double scoring column. A rash of fouls by Kingston gave Clarksburg its needed incentive to rally and tie up the game late in the third quarter.

Clarksburg took the lead 44 to 43 early in the final period, but the Redskins came back to take a 50 to 49 lead. Captain Larry Large was then fouled and sank two free throws to clinch the victory.

Kingston dunked 16 of 22 chances at the charity line and 31 of 41 in the two nights of play. Clarksburg scored 15 of 21 for a fine average for both teams.

ATER LED both teams with 18 points, garnering 12 of them in the last half. Ace scorer Bryant of Clarksburg was held to seven points for one of his lowest scoring nights. Bob Williams led Kingston with 12 points.

Unioto used its height to great advantage in defeating the Bulldogs. Taking a 13 to 3 first quarter lead, Unioto led 23 to 14 at halftime. The Bulldogs trailed 34 to 22 by the end of the third period.

Centralia rallied in the final period to come within three points of tying up the ball game but missed four successive one and one situations on the charity line, in recording its lowest scoring total in 10 games.

Bobby Shaw, after being stopped by the taller Unioto team in the first game, found his eye for 17 points to lead both teams in scoring. Floyd Myers followed with 10 points. Slater led Unioto with 16 points and C. Neff had 13 points.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Recently my husband bought a business and never mentioned any thought of doing so until it was all over. I was, and am, deeply hurt by this, as we always have been so close. We discussed everything. I'll grant you that if he had mentioned it to me, I feel sure that my response would have been to leave it all to his better judgment. But he says now that he "didn't feel that his business was my business."

I am not a child in years; but am I being childish in this matter? I am not angry, just plain hurt.

I hope you can find time to give me some needed advice.

G. S.

DEAR G.S.: Evidently your husband was secretly so unsure of the soundness of this venture that he didn't dare risk any discouraging comment from you. But he wanted to try it, so he took the plunge and informed you afterwards.

Now he still refuses to discuss it, mainly because of the anxious conflicts in his own mind. He wants to sit on his fears and ignore them—and not let them out in the open, where they might scare him. That is why he says that he "doesn't feel that his business is your business."

In a mixed-up way, he is trying to shield both himself and you from rampant worry and detailed anxiety.

As for your special distress, it is linked with a fear-feeling that he is moving out into new areas of life, and leaving you behind, stranded as it were, with a sense that you are of no further use to him, and of no interest to him, in this adventurous new chapter of his experience. You say you aren't angry, but hurt—meaning shocked and desolate, as if abruptly rejected.

You aren't being childish in feeling badly and letting your husband know it. Rather this is a normal outgoing wifely reaction to a beloved husband's sudden switch from sharing behavior to a lone wolf brand of thinking.

I see no justification for kicking yourself about your dismay. What the situation calls for is understanding—(1) of the inner meaning of your husband's defiant stand-offishness; and (2) of the reasons why you feel emotionally bereft, or hurt, as you say.

If you can grasp the fact that your husband is presently afraid of business failure, and consequent loss of standing with you; and that you are afraid of losing him—of becoming the forgotten woman in his routine—you will begin to come out of the woods in this matter, I think. You can stop feeling hurt, and start using your good common sense, to gradually heal the rift in comradeship.

Danny Thomas Gives Theory

His Success Climb Revealed by Ratings

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — "It's the difference between having your merchandise in the basement or having it in the street window."

This was Danny Thomas's explanation of his phenomenal success in leaping to the top area in the TV viewer polls this season.

And it has been a fantastic feat. Danny's family show had been on TV four seasons. Last year his rating hit the skids.

"By all rights, I should have been off the air by now," said Danny. "Every law of television would dictate that I was through."

The comedian made the remarks in his award-laden den as he was having a haircut. Such service is not a conceit, he remarked, but a necessity because of his harried schedule. I asked him if he thought his show was any better this year.

"I don't see how I can say that it is," he replied.

"Certainly we couldn't have asked for more awards or critical raves than we got in our first three years. And we got up to a good rating, too. But last year we came right in the middle of 'Climax' and we couldn't do a thing." Fortunately, Danny had allies in his desire to keep the show alive. One was advertising executive Tom McDermott, who sold a sponsor on buying Danny. The cause wasn't hurt by Desi Arnaz who commented that Danny's was the one show which could sustain the ratings in the time "I Love Lucy" was vacating.

He proved himself by becoming the top banana in the diminishing ranks of comics, scoring the top ratings for a comedy show.

'Sacred Cow' Said Curbing Sense of Humor in America

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Is America losing its sense of humor?

Perhaps we can laugh just as easily as before, but we are getting less and less opportunity. The decline of comedy in TV, movies and radio has been cited by many observers. In Atlantic Monthly, Steve Allen attributes this to such causes as the force-feeding of comedy on a mass scale, lack of training grounds for new comics and unsettled conditions in the world.

George S. Kaufman has also complained that funnymen have fewer things to kid these days; there are too many sacred cows. Stan Freberg, the brilliant young satirist, can attest to this in the radio and record field.

Freberg is a curly-haired fellow with a devilish sense of humor though he has the face of a hick—"I'm from Pasadena, and I wear it like a badge," he says defiantly. His take-off on "Dragnet," "St. George and the Dragonet," sold over 1½ million records, an amazing number for a non-musical, comedy disc.

Since then he has satirized rock 'n' roll singers, Johnny Ray, Texans, Harry Belafonte and other phenomena, his latest hit being a takeoff of Lawrence Welk called "Wunnerful, Wunnerful."

"The subjects you can satirize are getting narrower and narrower," he sighed. "I had records about Ed Sullivan, Arthur Godfrey and Ralph Edwards ready to go, but I couldn't get approval for them."

"Capitol Records is too concerned that the subjects will sue unless we get permission from them. The lawyers argue that a single takeoff on TV might not bring action, but the repetition of a record might be cause for damages. I can't convince them otherwise."

Sullivan said the record was very funny, but wouldn't give his go-ahead. I sent the record to Godfrey and it was rejected, though I don't know if Godfrey himself ever heard it. Edwards was very nice about it. He said he'd never be able to do 'This is Your Life' with a straight face if he allowed the record to come out."

Tired of such goings-on, Freberg sneaked the Welk record out without the bandleader's approval or the Capitol legal department's permission.

Fortunately for those who appreciate laughter, Freberg is not giving up. He has formed Freberg, limited ("but not very much") and is cooking up a TV show for one of the networks. He also is producing some spot commercials which are hilarious.

He is determined to continue, though he readily admits that be-

Trucker Accused Of Manslaughter

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. — Robert Figley, Massillon, Ohio, was charged with manslaughter, state police reported, after his truck was involved in a fatal accident Sunday.

Howard C. Bowman, 30, of Wellsburg, father of four, was killed when his truck collided head on with Figley's, then bounced into a car driven by Page Keener of New Martinsville. The accident happened on W. Va. 8 about 18 miles south of here. Neither Figley or Keener were hurt, police said.

Wee Driver Finds Penalty In Woodshed

WASHINGTON, England — Motorists blinked as a small truck weaved through the traffic here, apparently without a driver.

They watched as the truck scraped against the wall of the police station and shuddered to a halt. Then the driver got out.

The driver was Jim Brennan, just 7 years old and 4 feet high.

He had driven the truck, which belonged to his uncle, 1½ miles along busy streets, around five sharp corners, across a railroad crossing and up and down three steep hills.

He couldn't see over the driving wheel. He had great difficulty reaching the pedals. And he had no idea how to stop.

It all happened because Jim went to his uncle's house on an errand and missed the bus home. His uncle was out. He saw the truck standing there and climbed in.

After the truck hit the police station, an officer drove Jim home in a police car.

Under British law no one under 8 can be prosecuted. Jim's father, however, was under no such restrictions. He spanked the boy and canceled a present of a new bicycle.

Funds To Aid Small Merchant

A somewhat startling proposal has come from the president of the world's second largest stock exchange, on the subject of aid to small business. William T. McCormick, president of the American Stock Exchange, has proposed formation of a $500 million investment trust to supply risk capital to small businesses, with the federal government supplying half the amount.

McCormick's idea came to light in testimony before a House committee, during which he stressed the need for capital to finance the ideas of small business. "Big business gets an idea, it has the money to develop it," he said. "Little business gets an idea, it doesn't have the money. The problem is how to get the money to people with ideas."

Such an investment trust would replace the present program of federal loans to small business, which the Wall Street official feels is incapable of solving the problem. The burden of interest and loan repayments stifles most small businesses to the point where they "never get off the ground," he said.

Although the idea of investing government funds in private stocks is in itself unusual, McCormick was careful to present certain precautions in allowing government financing of private business. "I'd like to see Wall Street do the whole job itself," he said, "but it seems impossible to overcome reluctance on the part of investors to gamble money on small businesses."

Thus the plan for a $500 million investment trust, with private capital and the government each financing half. The federal government would be represented on the board of directors, but would not have the controlling voice. McCormick is convinced that once the plan is put into operation and an initial measure of success is achieved, private investors will be eager to buy out the government's share. But would the government be willing to sell?

McCormick's plan may have merit, providing stringent safeguards are placed on the government's participation. There can be no argument that capital is needed by small businesses, and a trust of this size might be a healthful shot in the arm. Lower taxes should solve the problem, but there seems to be no hope of a tax reduction.

Sputnik, 1957's Big Event

The year, 1957, has not brought about any vast changes in government or politics; it has been a year of chaos and confusion and revolution in some countries, but on the whole, it was not very exciting. The greatest single event of the year was the orbiting of Sputnik I and Sputnik II and the failure of the United States to equal the Russian performance.

Whenever the strongest power on Earth is defeated in some manner, it becomes necessary for all other countries to re-adjust their thinking and their policies. Sputnik I created a sensation; Sputnik II was like a battle won. Flapnik frightened our allies and the attendant publicity frightened the American people and forced the President to attend the NATO Conference in Paris despite his illness. He had to demonstrate his ability to be on the job to restore confidence in his administration.

So the year ended on the NATO meeting with its compromise formula that our allies would continue to be allies if the United States agreed to meet the Russians on the disarmament question on a foreign secretary level. This compromise Eisenhower accepted and Khrushchev speedily turned down.

Khrushchev's response could have been anticipated because he needs a Summit Conference to continue to build his own power. This time, if a Summit Conference is held, he needs no Bulganin to act as a front for him. He can be his own front. In fact, he is more likely to demand that Mao Tse-tung go with him than Bulganin, for Mao matters in the Communist world whereas Bulganin is as dead as Zhukov or anybody else the West will raise up as a spectre for Khrushchev to strike down.

So a Summit Conference is not likely to occur, for Eisenhower is surely not anxious to sit down with Khrushchev and cannot sit down with Mao. It would lead to too much internal dissension just about the time when the American people are getting ready for a new Congressional election. Eisenhower may not know much about politics but he undoubtedly is beginning to recognize what the Democrats have in mind for 1960. Even though Ike is forbidden by the Constitution to run again, it would not be Hoyle to play such politics as would destroy the careers of all those who have been faithful to him during the past five years.

To go to Geneva again, after the insults Khrushchev hurled at the United States since the last Summit Conference, would be to ask too much. True, the longer we talk, the less possibility there is of a sudden and disastrous war, but there is also the shame of cringing before a mean foe who, for the moment, has an advantage.

It is more likely that Americans will tax themselves into poverty beating the Russians than compromise with Khrushchev who after offering the palm leaf to us, threatens us with total destruction if we do not accept his gift. If he were so sure of himself, he would not threaten so much.

Domestically, the most serious problems facing the American people were the illness of President Eisenhower and the continued rise in the cost of living due to inflation. The President's second vascular attack was particularly frightening because the public had been apprised that he was on an anti-coagulant treatment and that therefore he ought to be saved from a stroke, however mild.

Fortunately, the President's stroke was mild and did not interfere with his activities too much, so far as we know. At any rate, he was able to go to Paris where he was under considerable pressure. On the other hand, his second heart attack raised the question as to who is to act as President in case of disability. The country is not willing to tolerate a cabal of Sherman Adams and James Hagerty.

During his illness, Vice President Nixon and Attorney General William Rogers were at the White House in constant attendance. But the legality of acts during the President's illness is always in doubt. That was so in the time of Grover Cleveland, Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt. There is a growing demand that the entire subject be restudied and a Constitutional Amendment passed determining once and for all, what happens when the President is disabled and how it is determined that he is disabled.

Can Thoughts Cure Warts?

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn, you may recall, had quite a discussion about the removal of warts. The controversy centered about the best method of getting rid of them and the following suggestions were made:

Apply "spunk water" to the wart in the middle of the woods at midnight.

Half-cover a bean with wart blood and bury it at a crossroads at midnight in the dark of the moon.

Folklore is full of "magical cures" for warts. But don't laugh at them too heartily. Along about the end of the 19th century, Dr. J. Bonjour developed this method of treating warts:

The patient was told to place his hand on a piece of paper. Then an outline of his hand was drawn and the position of the warts pencilled in.

After being blindfolded he was told to touch the warts and then told never to touch them again. Finally, he was advised that the warts would disappear in from 10 days to five weeks.

Dr. Bonjour claimed no failures in 30 years. He even began conducting treatments by mail.

A similar series of treatments was conducted in 1927 by Dr. Bruno Bloch who added colored dye and a running motor to the technique. Reliable statistics show he had great success in removing warts.

A careful follow-up study at the Zurich Hospital showed the method was successful in 78.5 per cent of 179 cases. In addition, doctors whose reputations can not be questioned, have employed similar methods involving suggestion with quite successful results.

All of which tends to prove that the power of suggestion often can eliminate warts.

Now it is important to understand that warts are infectious lesions caused by a virus—there is no psychic element involved in their formation.

While we don't know exactly how an infection can be eliminated by suggestion, we do have several theories:

Since emotional factors can bring about changes in the blood vessels, it is thought suggestion might produce a spasm in these vessel, lowering the blood supply to the wart. Or suggestion might have the same effect by lowering the blood pressure.

Neurovascular mechanism changes, such as pallor and blushing, may result in local psychochemical changes which prevent virus activity.

Still another theory is that the changes are caused by release of histamine or acetylcholine under emotional stimulation.

At any rate, suggestion seems to cure many cases of warts.

After Age 45--1 Resolution

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—The making of New Year resolutions seems to be almost altogether a masculine problem, and most women are inclined to regard the whole business as utter nonsense.

The reason for this is simple. The average woman feels that if there is anything wrong with her she can fix it with a needle and thread or a visit to the beauty parlor. She feels no need at year's end to go through a long struggle with her conscience. Why should she? After all, if there is anything really wrong with her life, it isn't her fault—it's just some darned man to blame.

The male animal, on the other hand, knows he has a nature freckled with evil.

Yearning for self-approval, he seizes paper and pen and makes a list of all the things he is going to do in the 12 months ahead to make himself a purer, finer man. Usually he might just as well write to Santa Claus—for all the good that results. For he sets himself impossible aspirations. No saint could do all the noble chores he sets for himself.

This is particularly true if he is a young man. For it is remarkable how a man's list of new year's resolutions changes and shortens as he grows older.

In my own case, for example, I find that at 25 my list of new year resolves ran to three closely-written pages. Picked at random, here are a few of the notations:

"Do 25 push-ups every morning."

"Don't fight in strange bar-rooms."

There is no need for a full pen of ink to set down my resolutions this year. At 46 the inexorable erosion of nature and slowing arteries turn a man into as much of a nobleman as he is ever likely to become. It is the passage of time, not the growth of character, that turns most men into angels.

The only good resolution a man needs to make in middle age, written with an interior urgency apparent only to him, is this: "Keep living!"

Want To Stay Young?
Get Out and Get Busy

By ANNE HEYWOOD
(King Features Syndicate)

"The holidays are such a lonely time for me."

This is the way about half of the letters I receive begin these days. More often than not, they come from widows in their fifties or sixties.

"I suppose," they usually continue, "that at my age..."

They blame age for every disappointment, every ill. Yet, actually, age has little to do with the case. Idleness, introspection and downright self-centeredness are more often at the bottom of it all.

As proof of this, let me tell you about Mrs. DeDuke, who is seventy-two years old.

I heard about her from her daughter, Helen. As the story unfolded, I began to realize that Helen's mother was remarkably young for seventy-two—and I was certainly right!

In the first place, I had a difficult time reaching her by phone. Either there was no answer or her line was busy, time after time, when I called.

Now I ask you, how many seventy-two-year-olds do you know about whom that can be said? Too often they're sitting gloomily in an empty house, listening for a telephone which never rings.

When I finally reached Mrs. DeDuke, her voice sounded like that of a woman no older than forty.

She told me about her volunteer work at the "Y" in Mt. Vernon, where she was making bandages for cancer patients. She told me about the parties at the canteen, on Thursdays, and about her regular weekly Wednesday afternoon party, with five friends who play canasta at each other's houses.

She had a schedule that was as busy as any debutante I ever knew!

What advice did Mrs. DeDuke have for other women who are widowed and no longer young?

"Get out and do something! Do something with people to keep your mind off yourself. If you stay home, you think too much about aches and pains!"

I found out that Mrs. DeDuke, a widow, had lived for many years in Newark, New Jersey, but had made the transition to Mt. Vernon with no trouble at all.

A capacity for new adventures, the ability to transplant and make new friends, the energy to live a full day—all these things are considered to be the boon of youth, and only youth. But Mrs. DeDuke, and many oldsters like her, are young at any age.

Detroit Humbles Cleveland To Win Pro Football Title

DETROIT (AP)—Their old coach called them "dead," their victims called them "lucky," and their new coach calls them "the fightingest damn bunch of guys I've ever seen."

But whatever you call them, today the Detroit Lions are the world champions of professional football. They proved it Sunday by dealing the Cleveland Browns the worst defeat in the team's history, 59-14, in the world title game at Briggs Stadium.

The startling triumph, achieved before 55,263 and a nationwide television audience, provided a dramatic climax to the daffiest campaign in National Football League history.

A grizzled band of old pro die-hards and a couple of rookies combined to produce this city's fourth world championship football team. This is the third time the Lions have grabbed off the big prize by beating their bitter rivals from Ohio.

Under the flawless guidance of quarterback Tobin Rote the Lions moved with authority and command from the start, scoring 17 points in the opening period and following with 14 points in each of the last three quarters. Rote, who never before played with a title-winning team in eight seasons of pro ball, was an offensive giant for the Lions.

The bronzed, drawing Texan who took over as solo quarterback four weeks ago when Bobby Layne was sidelined with a fractured ankle, threw four touchdown passes and scored another.

Handyman Jim Martin, the old
Notre Dame veteran the Lions almost released last summer, got the club off to a rousing start. He kicked a 31-yard field goal in the first period and before the scrap was over added eight extra points.

The Browns, division champs seven times in eight seasons and world titlists three times, never really got started. Linebacker Bob Long, one of more than half a dozen Detroit stalwarts obtained in player deals, intercepted a Tommy O'Connell pass three plays later. In three plays the Lions scored with Rote sneaking over from the one.

Milt Campbell fumbled the kickoff and rookie Terry Barr of Michigan recovered on the Cleveland 15. In six plays the score stood 17-0.

Detroit Humbles Cleveland To Win Pro Football Title

DETROIT (AP)—Their old coach called them "dead," their victims called them "lucky," and their new coach calls them "the tightest damn bunch of guys I've ever seen."

But whatever you call them, today the Detroit Lions are the world champions of professional football. They proved it Sunday by dealing the Cleveland Browns the worst defeat in the team's history, 59-14, in the world title game at Briggs Stadium.

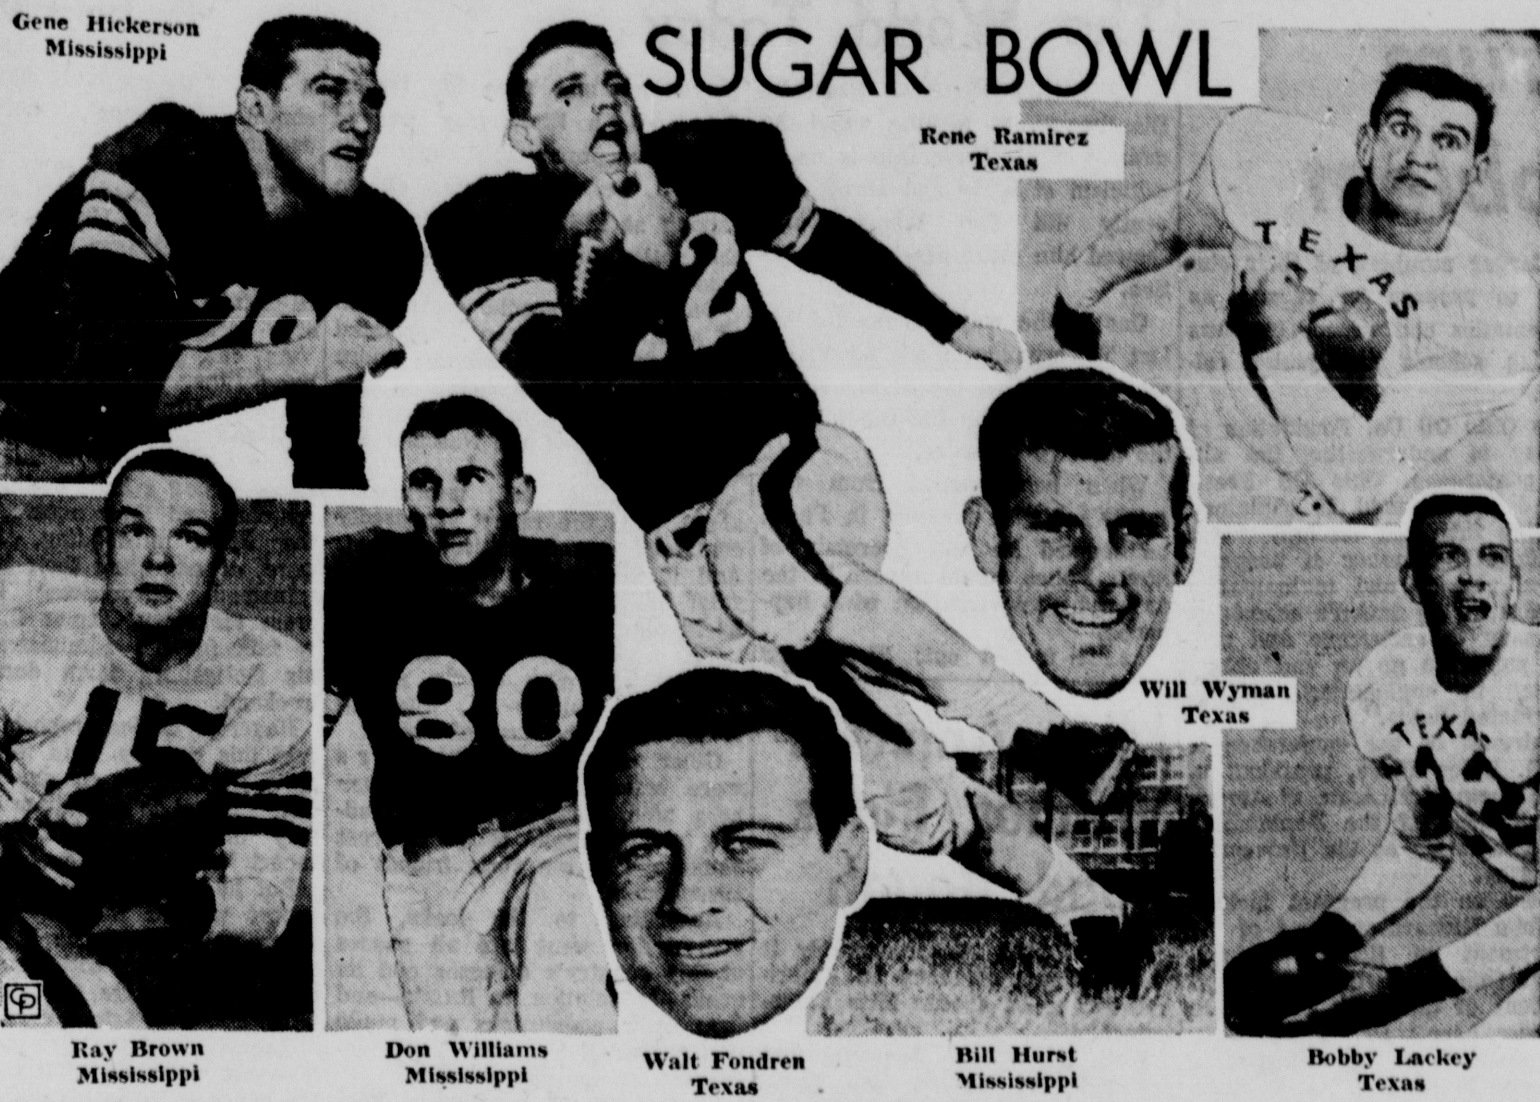

The startling triumph, achieved before 55,263 and a nationwide television audience, provided a dramatic climax to the daffiest campaign in National Football League history.

A grizzled band of old pro diehards and a couple of rookies combined to produce this city's fourth world championship football team. This is the third time the Lions have grabbed off the big prize by beating their bitter rivals from Ohio.

Under the flawless guidance of quarterback Tobin Rote the Lions

MISSISSIPPI, with an 8-1-1 record, tangles with Texas, 6-3-1, in the annual Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans on January 1. The Sugar Bowl was first played in 1935 before 23,000. Today the game draws upwards of 75,000. Also on the Sugar Bowl program are a series of sports events involving track and field, basketball and tennis.

Finals Tonight In 4 College Cage Tourneys

Kansas State-Kansas
Clash Labeled as Top
Battle on Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Champions will be crowned in four major tournaments tonight with the Big Eight in Kansas City matching Kansas and Kansas State—both unbeaten and both potential national champions.

In the others, California takes on Temple in the Holiday Festival windup in New York, Maryland meets Memphis State in the finale of the Sugar Bowl Tournament in New Orleans and Iowa plays Syracuse for the title of the Queen City event in Buffalo, N. Y.

This week will mark the windup of the heavy holiday tournament schedule and the teams will get down to the serious business of their conference races which for the winners will mean invitations to the NCAA tournament leading to the national championship next March.

Both Kansas and Kansas State are unbeaten, each having won nine games. They are co-favorites for the Big Eight title. And they were ranked Nos. 2 and 3, respectively, in last week's Associated Press poll of the top basketball teams in the country.

Possibly because of the fabulous Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, Kansas will rate a slight choice in the final.

Temple, which could emerge as the class of the Eastern sector, is a 5-point choice over California.

Maryland, rated No. 6 in the nation, is expected to roll past Memphis State, while Iowa is favored over Syracuse.

In addition to the tournaments, two more clubs who are casting covetous eyes at the national crown—Michigan State and Cincinnati—see action tonight. State, which appears to be the class of the Big Ten, visits Washington while Cincinnati engages Bradley. Both State and Cincinnati are undefeated.

West Virginia, which climbed clear to the top of the rating on its victory over North Carolina more than a week ago, gets back into action against Canisius Thursday. The Mountaineers have been resting since the NC game.

Two tournaments get under way tonight and one more Wednesday and that wraps up the holiday tournament business. The Gator Bowl, pairing Georgia vs. South Carolina and Florida vs. Clemson, and the All American at Owensboro, Ky., sending Washington and Lee against Ohio U. and Kentucky Wesleyan against Southern Illinois start tonight.

Then, on Wednesday, Georgia, The Citadel, Florida State and Spring Hill begin operations in the two-day Senior Bowl Tournament at Mobile, Ala.

While North Carolina tumbled all the way to fourth place in the ratings after West Virginia snapped its 37-game winning streak, the Tar Heels certainly will be in the midst of the fight for championship honors.

They started the long road back last Saturday—and in the process showed they weren't going to let one defeat get them down—by winning the Dixie Classic final from North Carolina State, 39-30.

San Francisco and Mississippi State also won major tournaments Saturday night. The Dons, No. 7 in the country whipped Oklahoma City, 69-45, in the final of the All-College affair in Oklahoma City and Mississippi State, No. 10, won its own invitational by turning back Morehead, 46-41.

In other big windups Saturday, Holy Cross vanquished Dartmouth 77-72, in the Holy Cross Invitation.

Circleville Cagers Trample Franklin Heights, 92-27

Circleville's cage Tigers had little trouble in recording a 92-27 victory at Franklin Heights Saturday night.

The Tigers ran up their highest point total of the season in downing an undermanned FH quintet. It marked the fifth triumph in seven starts for the locals and their third in a row.

Coach Dick Boyd used all 12 men who dressed with 11 of them breaking into the scoring column. The Tiger reserve team made it a perfect evening by downing the FH juniors, 50-23.

The CHS forces had an exceptionally good night from the field, hitting 38 of 69 attempts for a dazzling 55 per cent average. They added 16 points at the foul line.

COACH Boyd played his regulars only two quarters, the first and the third. However, the Tiger replacements maintained the hot scoring pace while the starters rested.

Big Bill Johnson again furnished the scoring punch with 29 points on 14 buckets and one free throw. John Wright had one of his best evenings of the season by registering 13 tallies. Jon Parcher and Walt Arledge collected 11 each.

Most of Johnson's markers came from underneath. Wright was hitting mostly from outside on a jump shot.

Parcher grabbed 12 rebounds and Johnson cleaned the boards for 11, giving the Tigers almost complete control under both hoops. Johnson's point production was the result of 14 buckets in 21 attempts for a sizzling 66 per cent average.

The Tigers jumped off to a 22-7 first quarter lead and were ahead, 37-13, at intermission. The locals scored 54 points in the final two quarters while FH could manage only 14.

Circleville's sweep in the reserve tilt was paced by Larry Hannah's 15 points and 10 by lanky Bob Shadley. As in the varsity test, the losers could not keep pace with the Kittens' quick hitting attack.

Circleville's next game is scheduled Friday night when Hillsboro comes here for an important South Central Ohio League battle.

W'msport Tops GE Quintet

Circleville Hands
VFW Upset Loss

Williamsport, Circleville Merchants and Chillicothe River Oil earned wins in Industrial cage play at the local Coliseum yesterday afternoon.

Williamsport edged General Electric, 53-48, Circleville upset Veterans of Foreign Wars, 59-57, and River Oil downed Nebraska Grange, 64-52.

The Deer Creek cagers, trailing most of the first half, turned on the steam in the last two quarters for 31 points and victory.

Tim Timberlake was high for the Deers with 16 points. Marvin Rhoads collected 15. Jack Hutchins with 18 and Ike Owens with 11 were top scorers for GE.

VFW, playing with only four men, put up a stubborn battle before stumbling. The Merchants staged a big rally in the third quarter for 28 points. They outscored the VFW team, 16-10, in the final period to gain the win.

Dave Greeno with 21 points and Emmitt Dade with 12 paced the Merchant attack. Jack Young was high for VFW with 19 tallies and Max Spangler netted 17.

After leading by a narrow 27-25 margin at halftime, River Oil moved out in the last two quarters to win going away.

Hummel's 21 points was high for the winners. Teammate Smith collected 16. Hedges was high for the Grangers with 16 tallies.

Woody Braced For Upset in Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Week-end gridiron developments, in which apparent setups turned in upsets, had their effect today on the Rose Bowl picture.

Ohio State's Big Ten champions, 21-point favorites to defeat Oregon in the "Daddy of the bowl games" New Year's Day, were wondering whether the lightning could hit them, too.

The wave of upsets which made the highly-favored Bucks a bit wary were Saturday's 3-0 Tennessee victory over Texas A&M, and the West's 27-13 conquest over the East in the Shrine game.

Coach Woody Hayes of the Bucks said: "The possibility of an upset has been mentioned to our boys. It will be reiterated now."

Len Casanova of Oregon's Webfoots, figured as doormats in the pregame figuring, observed:

"The experts say we are 19 to 21-point underdogs. Well, no one has beaten us by more than seven points this year, and I hope we can maintain that record in the Rose Bowl."

Ohio State's ailing halfback, Don Clark of Akron, who has been out of action the last 11 quarters of Ohio State's campaign with a groin injury, is pretty certain to see plenty of action against Oregon.

Clark ran a mile in gym shoes Sunday morning, then did it again in the afternoon.

al; Texas Christian won the pre-season Southwest Conference event, edging Rice, 57-55; Georgia Tech humbled Detroit, 70-66, in the Motor City finish, and Oregon State captured the Far West Classic by halting Utah, 65-63.

Spartan Cagers Continuing To Sweep All Foes

Michigan State's Spartans, the only undefeated Big Ten basketball team, hopes to make a clean sweep of its westward march against the Huskies of Washington tonight.

Michigan State, the nation's 8th ranked team, defeated Southern Cal 77-67 Saturday night for its seventh straight triumph.

While Michigan State was measuring Southern Cal, Ohio State, rated a pre-season contender for the conference title, suffered its seventh loss by dropping a 98-78 decision to UCLA.

Indiana, defending co-champion and another pre-season contender, lost to Notre Dame, 89-74. It was their sixth loss.

Michigan defeated New Mexico, 70-66; Wisconsin lost to Wyoming, 93-65; Illinois dumped Miami of Ohio, 93-75, and Iowa beat Cornell 73-68.

Ohio's Minor Courts Ready For Changeover

Modernization Plan Due To Go into Effect on Jan. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio will begin the new year with a sweeping improvement in its minor court system.

Starting Jan. 1, county judges will replace justices of the peace in all areas of the state outside territory served by expanded municipal courts.

A total of 95 county judges will be sworn in to serve in 54 of Ohio's 88 counties. Some municipal courts have county-wide jurisdiction.

The judges were elected last November in final steps to end the waning JP system established about 170 years ago before Ohio became a state. Ohio authorized 2,200 justices but the number was reduced to about 800 by recent legislative enactments.

"The change will provide Ohio with one of the best lower court systems anywhere in the United States," said Sen. William Tyrrell (R-Preble), co-author of the county court law with Rep. Kenneth A. Robinson (R-Marion).

The last legislature approved the shift to do away with the fee system that led to abuses in some JP courts.

Compensation of county judges will range between $1,500 and $5,000 a year, based on population in their territories and allowances from county commissioners.

Statute provides for counties to pay the new judges and for commissioners to provide them with suitable quarters and supplies. Some commissioners reportedly have balked at making quarters available.

Atty. Gen. William Saxbe told the new judges at a briefing session on their duties to make sure they were addressed as judge in their courtrooms, instead of by their first names as JPs often permitted.

"Don't be afraid they will say you are taking on airs," Saxbe admonished. "Many JPs were not interested in good law and some ran a collection agency on the side. That did not win respect. We want to make this new system work."

As part time jurists, Saxbe said, county judges are disqualified from practicing law in matters pending or originating in their courts while in office.

The new judges will serve for one year. But those elected next November will serve regular terms of four years, starting Jan. 1, 1959. Effective Jan. 1, 1963, all county judges must be attorneys with at least one year of practice although a "grandfather" clause permits an incumbent, who is not an attorney, to succeed himself.

They will have jurisdiction in motor vehicle violations and other misdemeanors and actions in which JPs had jurisdiction. County courts will have exclusive original jurisdiction in civil actions for recovery of sums to $100. They also will have concurrent jurisdiction with common pleas courts for recovery of larger sums to a limit of $300.

County court districts will have one judge for each 30,000 population to a total of five for 150,000 population. Districts between 150,000 and 360,000 population will have eight judges and those above 360,000 a limit of 12 judges.

The sheriff and township constables are ministerial officers of a county court in all civil and criminal cases under its jurisdiction.

In county court districts hearing cases involving motor vehicle violations on the Ohio Turnpike, common pleas court with the consent of county commissioners may provide for election of a judge for each 20,000 population in addition to those regularly allowed.

Man Returns To Home He Doesn't Know

CLEVELAND (AP)—Raynbert J. Albert, who confessed a killing which apparently never happened, is back in a home he says he doesn't know.

Raymond Hensley, Albert's stepfather, and a friend returned him Sunday from Columbus, Columbus police released Albert, who insists he is a blacksmith named Donald Mack, after investigating a slaying he claims he committed during a drunken brawl.

The 40-year-old Albert, a map and globe salesman, disappeared from his Lakewood home 11 months ago, leaving his wife and two children behind. His identity was learned by police during an investigation of the alleged murder, of which police say they have no record.

At her home Sunday night, Mrs. Hensley, Albert's mother, said he denied he had a wife or family. "He tells me he does not know me," she said.

"When we got home," his stepfather said, "he never recognized the place. He walked right past one of his best friends without even looking at him."

Hensley said Albert was struck on the head while helping a neighbor repair a garage about two weeks before his disappearance.

"He complains of severe pains on one side of his face and takes aspirins all the time for it," his mother said, "and he has almost lost all the hearing in his right ear."

"I don't know exactly what we'll do. We will probably take him to a doctor, first."

She refused to allow newsmen to talk to her son. He has not been told that his wife has filed suit for divorce, she added.

Columbus Boy, 16, Shot by Policeman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A policeman said he shot one of three boys who fled a stolen car Sunday. The youth, Jack Lediard, 16, was reported in fair condition at a hospital after being wounded in the back.

Patrolman Francis Shalosky said Lediard ran from the car, hid in some bushes, then ran again when Shalosky approached with handcuffs. Shalosky said he ordered the boy to stop, then fired once. Lediard's two companions, 14 and 13, were taken into custody and admitted five auto thefts, police said.

Defiance College Forum Studies Teaching Problem

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A quick formula for making a plus out of a minus. That's the quest of 150 educators, businessmen and leaders of labor and industry meeting here today in an effort to solve the shortage of teachers for high school science and mathematics courses.

With Russian Sputniks streaking the heavens in emphasis of America's apparent science deficiencies, this experimental meeting on the Defiance College campus is attracting national attention.

Dr. Kevin McCann, president of the college and special assistant to President Eisenhower, said he hopes the session will prove a catalyst for a nationwide movement toward increasing the teacher supply.

Going into today's meeting after a study of the teacher shortage in western Ohio, the participants already have some possible solutions in mind.

As an interim measure, they plan to secure qualified volunteers from business and industry to teach mathematics and science in the high schools on a part-time basis.

They also will consider a proposal to hire someone to coordinate that program.

Then, as a long-range measure, they will propose means by which church-related colleges can strengthen their faculties and add subjects and equipment to encourage larger numbers of their students to prepare for careers as mathematics and science teachers in high schools and junior colleges.

The Ohio Oil Co. Foundation of Findlay is underwriting the all-day conference. Ohio Oil President J. C. Donnell II explained that his firm felt strongly "that an adequate number of properly trained science and mathematics teachers in the nation's schools is necessary to encourage and prepare pupils to go on and obtain degrees in engineering, science and related fields."

Chairman of the conference is Dr. G. Bailey Price, president of the Mathematical Assn. of America and head of the Department of Mathematics at the University of Kansas.

Others on the program include Dr. John Richardson, head of the Department of Science Education at Ohio State University and president of the National Science Teachers Assn.; Dr. Harold Bowers, director of the Division of Teacher Education, Ohio State Department of Education, Dr. Walter Peterson, director of the Education Program in Science Education, National Science Foundation; Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co. and an authority on atomic energy who currently is president of the Fund for Peaceful Atomic Development; and Dr. E. L. Bowsher, superintendent of Toledo Public Schools.

Father Gorman met the boy on the stairs, his cassock aflame, and extinguished the fire by wrapping an overcoat around the youth.

Japanese Tax Exemption Claim Debated

TUCKAHOE, N.Y. (AP)—Authorities in the town of Eastchester, a residential area a few miles to the north of New York City, have run into a novel problem involving the United Nations and taxes.

The Japanese mission to the U.N. recently bought a house in the area as a residence for Koto Matsudaira, permanent Japanese representative to the U.N.

Tax exemption was asked on the basis of treaty provisions between the United States and the U.N. These provide for tax exemption on such property if it is within 15 miles of U.N. headquarters in New York.

Japanese officials said a study of maps before the property was purchased showed the site to be 14.2 miles from U.N. headquarters.

However, town supervisor Francis X. O'Rourke said that the distance was 17 miles by every highway route he could find. He conceded that it might be less than 15 miles as the crow flies but that only a helicopter could transport the Japanese official as the crow flies.

Both sides indicated engineers would have to be called in to settle the question.

The house purchased by the Japanese has a tax roll value of $47,900. The town tax rate calls for payment of $29 annually on each $1,000 of valuation.

Emotional 'Scars' In Babies Studied

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—New tests indicate babies can be emotionally scarred by what happens to their mothers during pregnancy.

Pregnant rats made emotionally anxious in the tests produced offspring which were abnormal emotionally. The effects are relatively permanent.

In one experiment, mice born to normal mothers developed emotional changes when reared by foster mothers who had been subjected to emotional stress.

The experiments were described to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science by William R. Thompson, psychologist of Wesleyan University.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, at a time when the quality of his leadership is under criticism at home and abroad, recently did two things which showed him more passive than active.

One is the way he handled his last TV broadcast; the other, the way he handled the highly secret Gaither report on the condition of the nation's defenses.

When he returned from this month's NATO meeting in Paris, he decided he and Secretary of State Dulles would report to the nation by television on what happened.

As it turned out, Eisenhower played straight man for Dulles.

Although Eisenhower was at NATO and presumably knew what occurred, Dulles did almost all the talking as if he were telling both the nation and Eisenhower what went on.

On Nov. 7 a special commission of outstanding citizens, appointed by Eisenhower six months before to study defense problems of this country, made a highly secret report to him and the National Security Council.

But, bit by bit, information about what the report supposedly contained has been leaking out. And if they are true, stories on what has leaked out have looked frightening.

This report was named after the original chairman of the group, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., who had to step aside because of illness.

Other commission members were scientists, educators, business men, former military leaders, and a couple of Wall Street bankers who are close friends of Eisenhower.

According to the leaks, the commission went into all phases of this country's defenses and its needs—in relation to Russia—and then drew conclusions and made recommendations for huge increases in defense spending.

On Dec. 20 the Washington Post published a story on the Gaither report in such detail it indicated a Post reporter must have been shown a great deal, if not all, the document.

The lead on that story said: "The still top-secret Gaither report portrays a United States in the gravest danger in its history. It pictures the nation moving in frightening course to the status of a second-rate power."

As one leak followed another the Gaither report began to take on nationally somber importance. Eisenhower himself could have issued a statement on this report, either giving a brief outline of the contents and their nature, calling the leaks misleading, if they were, or admitting their truth.

Instead, Eisenhower let his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, talk for the administration at his Gettysburg farm during the weekend.

Hagerty denied reports which said this country is in immediate peril. He said the country "at this time" is not in a position of military weakness, and the Gaither report "says just the opposite."

But he did not say whether the report warned that, at the rate we're going, we'll be in terrible shape, compared with Russia. To consider the future, he said, would be like looking into a crystal ball.

Hagerty said the President will give his views on what the country needs to do in his state of the union message to Congress in January.

Miss America Winner Finds Road Rough

NEW YORK (AP)—Presumably it is the dream of many an American girl to be chosen Miss America of 1958.

Well, in 1955 a beautiful and talented girl named Lee Meriwether of San Francisco, Calif., was chosen the Miss America of that year with much fanfare at Atlantic City, N. J. She was delighted because the money she received would help her realize her life-long ambition of becoming an actress.

Today she still hopes to achieve recognition as a first-rate actress.

"But," she says "I think it's a real disadvantage to me as an actress ever to have been chosen a Miss America."

She will be seen in her most important television dramatic role to date next Wednesday evening, Jan. 1, when she plays the feminine lead on "The Millionaire" (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

Although the story in part has a tropical beach setting seeming to offer an opportunity to put Miss Meriwether in a bathing suit—she appears, instead, in a tweedy riding costume. And that is precisely the way she demands it.

"I want to be a good actress," she says, "and if I can't be one, I don't want to be an actress at all. I also want a home and husband and family, and I don't see why one goal excludes the other."

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, at a time when the quality of his leadership is under criticism at home and abroad, recently did two things which showed him more passive than active.

One is the way he handled his last TV broadcast; the other, the way he handled the highly secret Gaither report on the condition of the nation's defenses.

When he returned from this month's NATO meeting in Paris, he decided he and Secretary of State Dulles would report to the nation by television on what happened.

As it turned out, Eisenhower played straight man for Dulles. Although Eisenhower was at NATO and presumably knew what occurred, Dulles did almost all the talking as if he were telling both the nation and Eisenhower what went on.

On Nov. 7 a special commission of outstanding citizens, appointed by Eisenhower six months before to study defense problems of this country, made a highly secret report to him and the National Security Council.

But, bit by bit, information about what the report supposedly contained has been leaking out. And if they are true, stories on what has leaked out have looked frightening.

This report was named after the original chairman of the group, H. Rowan Gaither Jr., who had to step aside because of illness.

Other commission members were scientists, educators, businessmen, former military leaders, and a couple of Wall Street bankers who are close friends of Eisenhower.

According to the leaks, the commission went into all phases of this country's defenses and its needs—in relation to Russia—and then drew conclusions and made recommendations for huge increases in defense spending.

On Dec. 20 the Washington Post published a story on the Gaither report in such detail it indicated

Today she still hopes to achieve recognition as a first-rate actress.

"But," she says "I think it's a real disadvantage to me as an actress ever to have been chosen a Miss America."

She will be seen in her most important television dramatic role to date next Wednesday evening, Jan. 1, when she plays the feminine lead on "The Millionaire" (CBS-TV, 9 p. m., EST).

Although the story in part has a tropical beach setting seemingly an opportunity to put Miss Meriwether in a bathing suit—she appears, instead, in a tweedy riding costume. And that is precisely the way she demands it.

"I want to be a good actress," she says, "and if I can't be one, I don't want to be an actress at all. I also want a home and husband and family, and I don't see why one goal excludes the other."

NEW YORK (AP)—Presumably it is the dream of many an American girl to be chosen Miss America of 1958.

Well, in 1955 a beautiful and talented girl named Lee Meriwether of San Francisco, Calif., was chosen the Miss America of that year with much fanfare at Atlantic City, N. J. She was delighted because the money she received would help her realize her life-long ambition of becoming an actress.

Today she still hopes to achieve recognition as a first-rate actress.

a Post reporter must have been shown a great deal, if not all, the document.

The lead on that story said: "The still top-secret Gaither report portrays a United States in the gravest danger in its history. It pictures the nation moving in frightening course to the status of a second-rate power."

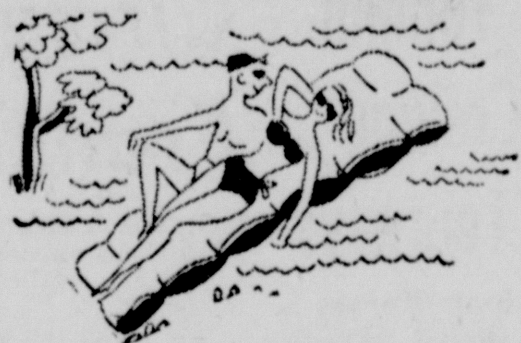

As one leak followed another the Gaither report began to take on nationally somber importance. Eisenhower himself could have issued a statement on this report, either giving a brief outline of the contents and their nature, calling the leaks misleading, if they were, or admitting their truth.

Instead, Eisenhower let his press secretary, James C. Hagerty talk for the administration at his Gettysburg farm during the weekend.

Hagerty denied reports which said this country is in immediate peril. He said the country "at this time" is not in a position of military weakness, and the 'Gaither report' "says just the opposite."

But he did not say whether the report warned that, at the rate we're going, we'll be in terrible shape, compared with Russia. To consider the future, he said, would be like looking into a crystal ball.

Hagerty said the President will give his views on what the country needs to do in his state of the union message to Congress in January.
